

Hokkaido University - University of Melbourne
International Workshop

Indigenous Health

Exploring Perspectives, Well-being, and Community-based Approaches

The workshop will focus on the dialogues on the previous and current health issues among indigenous communities. By bringing together experts doing research on diverse populations including indigenous people, this international workshop seeks to initiate conversations, connections and collaborations, and accelerate the understanding of the current situation of indigenous communities and further promote their health and well-being.

Thu. 2023
June 29
09:00 - 12:30

VENUE
Centennial Hall
Hokkaido University

PROGRAM

- ◆ 09:00 - Doors open
- ◆ 09:15 - Opening remarks
- ◆ Session 1: Africa (Zambia, Cameroon)
- ◆ 09:30 - 09:55 Dr. Sikopo Nyambe (Global Station for Indigenous Studies and Cultural Diversity, HU)
"Community-based WASH (water, sanitation and hygiene)" Using participatory action research to explore 'different ways of knowing'
- ◆ 09:55 - 10:20 Prof. Taro Yamauchi (Faculty of Health Sciences / Center for Environmental and Health Sciences, HU)
"Food Security and Nutrition" Nutritional status, dietary intake and physical activity of rural villagers in contrasting ecological zones in Southern Zambia
- ◆ 10:20 - 10:45 Dr. Akira Sai (Global Station for Indigenous Studies and Cultural Diversity, HU)
"Indigeneity" Hygiene attitude and a sense of belonging among hunter-gatherers in Cameroon
- ◆ Session 2: Oceania (Australia)
- ◆ 10:45 - 11:10 Prof. Sandra Eades (Faculty of Medicine, Dentistry and Health Sciences, UM)
"Community-based approaches to addressing and improving health and well-being of Indigenous Australians"
- ◆ 11:10 - 11:35 Prof. Richard Chenhall (Melbourne School of Population and Global Health, UM)
"Social determinants of indigenous health: Health equity and social justice"
- ◆ 11:35 - 12:00 Dr. Kristen Smith and Mr. Levi-Craig Murray (Melbourne School of Population and Global Health, UM)
"Onemda: Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander wellbeing"
- ◆ 12:00 - 12:25 General discussion
- ◆ 12:25 - Closing remarks

Co-organized by

Hokkaido University, Global Station for Indigenous Studies and Cultural Diversity (GSI)
University of Melbourne, Indigenous Knowledge Institute
Hokkaido University, Faculty of Health Sciences

Collaboration with

Hokkaido University, Center for Ainu and Indigenous Studies
Hokkaido University, Center for Environmental and Health Sciences

Contact Dr. Akira Sai (Center for Ainu and Indigenous Studies, HU) E-mail: akirasai.meiji@gmail.com